TRUSTEES' MEETING

COMMUNICATIONS, BIDS OPENED, STREET PROCEEDINGS, SYCAMORE CANYON PROTESTS DENIED

The Board of Trustees met in regular session at the city hall at 7:30 p. m., Feb. 28, 1916. All members present at roll call.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from the State Compensation Insurance Fund calling attention to the fact that the compensation act does not cover casual employes, whose duties are not usual to the employer's business, and recommending that policy holders generally file an acceptance of the compensation provision of the law bringing all employes within the protection of the fund policies.

On motion of Trustee Thompson, the matter was referred to the city manager and the manager of the Public Service Department, who later in the evening recommended the acceptance of the proposition of the State Compensation Insurance Fund and authorized the president of the board to sign the necessary application.

A communication was read from the Los Angeles Directory company, stating that a complete directory of the City of Los Angeles is now being prepared and set forth the desirability of Glendale's being represented in its pages, soliciting a subscription to the directory and the price of $10.00 for this advertisement. On motion of Trustee Thompson the communication was ordered to be filed.

On motion, bids for the furnishing of cast iron water pipe for the Public Service Dept. were ordered to be opened, read and publicly declared.

Bids were opened and read and on motion of Trustee Grist, referred to the manager of the Public Service Department.

An application was read from Mr. A. B. Clement for permit to sell milk, and being approved by Milk Inspector Hollenbeck, the same was granted.

On motion of Trustee Thompson the hearing of protests on the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon road was called for. Although a large number of persons interested in this matter were present, and an opportunity given to speak on the question, no one addressed the board at this time, and on motion of Trustee Tower, seconded by Trustee Grist, the protests were ordered to be denied.

The city manager presented a resolution providing for the reorganization of the police department; also another resolution providing for a set of rules for the police department. On motion of Trustee Thompson both were referred to the Public Welfare department.

The city manager also presented the proposition to install the necessary paraphernalia for the finger print system in detective work in connection with the police department, as this can be done for a short period without cost to the city. On motion of Trustee Thompson the city manager was instructed to make the installation as recommended by him.

On motion of Trustee Grist, the city engineer was instructed to prepare the necessary proceedings for the opening of Eighth street from Adams street to Verdugo road. On motion of Trustee Thompson, the city engineer was instructed to bring in necessary resolution for the initiation of the improvement of Elrose street.

On motion of Trustee Grist, the city attorney and city manager were instructed to attend a meeting of the Railroad Commission in the city of Los Angeles, at which the subject of grade crossings is to be discussed.

On motion of Trustee Thompson, the city clerk was instructed to write to Mr. A. W. Randolph, informing him of the opinion of the city attorney in regard to his claim against the city for injury to a horse.

The manager of the Public Service department reported on the bids for water pipe. The bid of H. R. Boynton company was the same as the other lowest bid on the large pipe, but higher on fixtures. The bid of R. E. Allen does not comply strictly with the specifications, and he recommended the acceptance of the bid of the American Cast Iron Pipe company, represented by J. W. Blair. On motion of Trustee Tower, the recommendation was concurred in, and the bid accepted.

The city attorney reported progress in the matter of the opening and widening of Seventh street, also in regard to the opening and widening of East Broadway, that the referees in this case had been appointed on this date.

At this point Mr. A. R. Heacock addressed the board in regard to the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon road; he expressed his op-

SYCAMORE CANYON

COUNCIL TRANSACTS ROUTINE BUSINESS AND DENIES SYCAMORE CANYON PROTEST

Sycamore Canyon protest, signed by about 30 per cent of the frontage in the district, was denied by the city trustees Monday night and the next legal steps in the matter of the construction of the street will be taken. The matter came up at the opening of the trustee meeting and there being no one prepared to speak on the matter the denial of the protest was formally agreed to.

After the greater part of the routine business of the council had been transacted, Mr. A. B. Heacock, 507 Ninth street, asked if the matters of the Sycamore canyon had been taken up. He was informed that the matter had been disposed of, the protest having been denied. Mr. Heacock stated that he objected to the project because he would have to pay for improvements that would not benefit his property. He wanted to be public-spirited but he had already paid $215 for street improvements and deeded land to the city for them. The contemplated improvements would not benefit him at all; yet he was included in the assessment district.

Mr. Reed, candidate for the city council, complained that sufficient time had not been given from the date of the mailing of the notice of improvements to the date of the meeting. The city attorney explained that the notices had been mailed with due diligence as required by the law.

This struck the keynote of a number of protests of similar kind. Miss Burgess, of Rock Glen avenue, strongly protested against her property being included in the assessment and pointed out that the proposed improvements could not benefit her.

Miss Corbaley of Colorado boulevard also protested strongly against the measure. She said that formerly a 50-foot street had been considered sufficient for taking care of the water from Sycamore canyon and that that had been stated by the city engineer. She also protested against what she believed to be inequality of taxation in the assessment districts.

City Engineer Lynch explained that he had indeed recommended a street such as described by Miss Corbaley and that the present plans were those demanded by the people of the district. He believed in equitable assessments. As far as the assessments were concerned he believed that if a $2.00 shoe was sufficient for one's purpose and some other demanded a $5.00 shoe that the party who desired the $5.00 shoe should pay the excess. That principle he believed should be applied to the assessments in the Sycamore canyon or any other district. This remark elicited some applause.

Mr. Brown of Lincoln avenue also voiced the opinion that those whose property lay on the outer edge of the district should not be assessed for this improvement or if assessed should have but a small proportion to pay. He favored the assessing of the whole city.

Mr. Chandler of Everett and Fifth street also protested against his property being assessed unless the whole city were assessed; but he signified that he approved of obeying the law in the matter.

Mr. Josephs maintained that it was not fair to compel people to pay for improvements that would only benefit other people's property.

Mrs. Gaylord asked what would be the probable cost of the improvements. She thought the Sycamore canyon people should pay for their own road.

The chairman, Mr. O. A. Lane, explained that the assessments would be levied in a fair and reasonable manner and the City Attorney, Mr. Evans, further explained that the council was merely following out the law as prescribed for them and that there would be further opportunity for protest on the part of those who might think they were assessed in excess of a reasonable amount.

Mr. R. R. Davis, First and Adams streets, called the attention of the council to the condition of the intersection of First and Verdugo road, where the water from Sycamore canyon has flooded the street and choked the drain. The council promised to have the drain and street cleared.

The matter was then dropped and the council proceeded to the conclusion of its business.

ELKS GREAT SHOW

LOCAL LODGE TO GIVE ALL-STAR VAUDEVILLE IN AID OF BUILDING FUND

Glendale Lodge No. 1289, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, has arranged an All-Star Vaudeville show, in aid of the building fund, for Thursday, March 2. The show will be put on in the Palace Grand theater and will be one of the best ever given in this city. The orchestra will be under the direction of Julius Bierlich. The Hearst-Vitagraph will show the latest events in pictures. Then will follow the program:

1. The popular dramatic stars, James Neill and Edith Chapman Neill, in "The Lady Across the Hall," a comedy in one act by Julius Street.
2. Harry Williams, the celebrated writer of popular songs, author of "Tipperary," "Monterey," "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," etc,, assisted at the piano by Harry McCoy.
3. Frances Ring, supported by Lawrence Wheat, in "Oh! Doctor!" by Rector Turnbull.
4. Ruth Roland and Harry McCoy, the ever-popular duo, in popular songs and dances.
5. Mae Murry and Company, the famous "Ziegfield Follies" star, in Classic and Modern Dances.
6. Theodore Roberts, America's foremost character actor, in Dramatic Readings.
7. Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield, the brilliant stars of "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," in the comedy sketch" Change Your Act or Back to the Woods."
8. George H. Melford and Tom Forman, the well-known dramatic stars, in Richard Harding Davis' playlet, "The Littlest Girl."

Glendale has never had a vaudeville program of such high quality presented to it and the occasion should fill the theater. No public body deserves better of the public than the Elks. Their constant charities are well known and the good they do is unlimited.

"The Elks of Glendale," said Stephen C. Packer, exalted ruler, "have four lots, which are clear of debt, at the corner of Sixth and Brand boulevard. We are anxious to erect on those lots a building that will be a credit to the city and also in keeping with the importance of the local lodge. The building would cost about $40,000. We have been accumulating funds for some time and have a few thousands in this building account. We hope to add a substantial sum to this fund by means of this entertainment. The building we contemplate would be a very complete clubhouse, with gymnasium and other athletic adjuncts.

"The lodge has grown during the three and a half years of its existence from a membership of 27 to a membership of 600. That is a wonderful increase. We distribute every month from $90 to $100 in charities to deserving people. Every thing about the lodge is alive and we hope by a year from now to be able to begin building.

"This vaudeville entertainment has only been made possible by the wide acquaintance some of our members have with the theatrical profession. It will be such a treat as Glendale could not hope to secure without the aid of some such organization as our own. These world-famous stars are contributing their services without charge for the sake of the order to which they belong. We have every reason to believe that there will be a record house on this occasion. The people of Glendale appreciate a good thing when it is offered and they are always ready to help a good cause. They full appreciate what the building of such a clubhouse would mean to Glendale."

DORAN STREET P. T. A.

The Doran Street Parent-Teacher's association will hold meeting Wednesday, March 1, at 3:00 p. m. Speaker, Mrs. Charles H. Toll. Subject, "Children's Reading." Refreshments will be served.

OFF TO THE ORIENT

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark, 201 S. Central avenue, leave Glendale tonight for San Francisco, whence they will take boat, March 2, for an extended trip of from six months to a year throughout the Orient. From San Francisco they will go direct to Honolulu, from the Hawaiian islands they will go to the Philippines; thence to Japan, Korea, China and Australia. Mr. and Mrs. Clark have already traveled extensively in Europe and the United States.

WEATHER FORECAST — Cloudy and unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday; showers; west winds.

LUMBER IS ACTIVE

GEORGE H. BENTLEY SAYS THAT BUILDING BUSINESS CAUSES GREAT DEMAND FOR FIRM'S PRODUCT

According to Mr. George H. Bentley of the firm of Bentley-Schoeneman, 1022 W. Broadway, the lumber business is picking up at present and there is every promise of a most prosperous summer. "This firm has been exceedingly busy during the past month," said Mr. Bentley to a representative of The Glendale Evening News. "Business is picking up right along. For a time we seemed to have struck an exceedingly dull period; but I don't think we will have to complain of that very much longer. The business boom that has struck the East is now making itself felt in this part of the country. It may not be a great deal to begin with but it is certain to increase.

"This firm has supplied all the lumber for J. E. Peters' new brick block on Brand boulevard. The very fact that such a block should be erected is another sign of the business revival that is overtaking this district. Shrewd business men believe in the future of the Pacific coast and also in the future of Glendale.

"We have also supplied all the lumber, sash, doors and interior finish of the bungalow which Kearns and Lane are erecting on Myrtle street. That is but one of other such bungalows that are contemplated for the near future. We have also supplied all the sash, doors and interior finish for the R. N. Lambert house on Third and Central avenue. That is a nice, modern building and we believe the precursor of many more of a similar character that will be built in this vicinity.

"Besides all this we know of other work that is to come. Our business extends down the Valley and takes in all the vicinity of Glendale in such growing towns as Montrose, Burbank, La Crescenta and La Canada. There is business growing right along in all those places and I feel certain that it will be very much better this summer than it has ever been."

CARL ANDERSON LOSES LEG

FREE SUGAR REPEAL STRUGGLE

According to the telegraphic reports in the Glendale News the House Ways and Means committee unanimously agreed Monday to advise Congress to adopt the bill introduced in that body, Feb. 14, by Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina, democratic leader of the House, providing for a repeal of the free sugar proviso of the Underwood tariff law. This is a matter of some moment to the country at large.

At present certain of the seaboard refiners of the foreign-grown sugar are engaged in attempting to persuade Congress to impose a tax upon home-grown sugar equal to the customs duty upon imported sugar. This action of the Ways and Means committee is an answer to that attempt. This bill provides for an absolute repeal of the free sugar provision without any limit or reservation.

The position of the United States in the present crisis so far as sugar is concerned is unique. The United States government has, up to three years ago, acted on the principle of giving preference to sugar produced on its own soil whether on the American continent or on acquired territory elsewhere. Cane sugar has been produced in the United States in the State of Louisiana and its neighborhood and has enjoyed the full preference. The industry has been built up on that basis. In recent years another sugar industry, that of the sugar beet, has been established and begins to flourish and progress on the same terms. This industry is one of the growing industries of California. These are the strictly domestic sugar industries of the United States.

When the Hawaiian islands were annexed their sugar industry received the full preference and has flourished exceedingly, becoming one of the most perfectly organized sugar industries of the world. The island of Porto Rico followed with similar results; then the Philippines, where a great increase in production may be looked for in the future if the preference is not withdrawn. The island of Cuba remains a foreign country; but the United States' fostering care has been extended to it to such a paternal extent that it is quite natural that Cuban sugar should receive a preference of 20 per cent of the duty.

This has resulted in greatly stimulating production, which has more than doubled and still continues to make giant strides. Up to a few years ago the United States had to import large quantities of sugar from outside of this preferential ring and this sugar still imported to some extent is admitted free by the Underwood tariff. It is to exclude this sugar, which is really no longer needed in the United States, that the repeal of the free sugar proviso of the tariff is now under way.

The fostering of the home production of sugar in the United States and in the island dependencies of this country is a safeguard against a possible world-wide scarcity of that necessary product, as is well reflected in what is now taking place in connection with dyestuffs for lack of domestic production. Duties on foreign sugar are a necessity to the United States if it is to be independent of the foreign producer and to see its own native industry flourish. Under a free admission or a low tariff American sugar would have a hard time to maintain its existence. This sugar question runs on the same line as the insistent question of preparedness.

NATIONAL GROUPINGS AFTER THE WAR

Those who are hoping for a world-wide league of nations to put an end to war are apt to find themselves disappointed if one is to judge by the present talk in Europe. Nothing is more certain than the illimitable greed of man and the persistence of his evil qualities. The world is far from any millennial dawn of peace if the actions and utterances of the nations are to be taken into account; and what else is there to be taken into account in this connection? The British frankly confess that they do not look to see the "United States of Europe." That is a Utopian dream at present. They say there are too many different kinds of people in Europe. Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland may talk about a United States of Europe; yet each one of these countries has its particular hatred and would refuse in all probability to act along with certain other countries except on prohibitory terms.

Denmark hates and dreads Germany, which frankly has confessed that some day the whole of that country must follow the provinces of Schleswig and Holstein and become part of the kaiser's realm. Sweden hates and fears Russia. Holland doubts and distrusts Germany, which has signified its desire to annex that sturdy land.

The Balkan States are at sixes and sevens, and they, too, fear the strong German hand or the strong Russian hand. There are those in Bulgaria, Roumania, Servia and Greece who are willing to concede that an outside power must take hold of their countries and weld them into a single State. Others, of course, are not willing to lose their nationality on any terms.

Naturally the Germanic nations would hold together. Ultimately, it is said, Austria and Germany must be one and the complex nationalities of Austria-Hungary must submit to a ruler by divine right a King Stork instead of a King Log.

Then Britain, France, Russia and Italy must form another group. Italy was once a member of the dreibund, allied with Germany and Austria-Hungary, but that union was political and Italy always chafed against it.

It is significant that while the theoretical reorganizers of the European countries concede that there will still be a Germany they assert that Austria-Hungary will lose its individuality.

The "get-together" tendency in Scandinavia has been noticeable for some time. With Denmark anti-German, Norway pro-English and slightly anti-Russian and Sweden strongly anti-Russian the problem of getting together, however, is going to be quite difficult. If Russia could be induced by its allies, Britain and France, to agree to guarantee non-aggression against the Scandinavian countries nothing would be left in the way of a federation of the northern countries. Some people, however, doubt if such an agreement is possible on the part of Russia.

It is practically certain that if the war ends in favor of the Allies the Turks will be removed from Europe to Asia Minor. This might help the Balkans to settle down peacefully and in the end to agree on a central government under which they would prosper and progress. Belgium would naturally belong to the Anglo-Franco-Russo-Italian combination and would be re-established on its old basis after the war. It seems certain that instead of a United Europe, the world will see a set of groups as indicated bound more closely together than ever and the end of war will still be far away.

AUTO DEATH INQUEST

CORONER'S JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH IN PALMANTEER CASE

Before Coroner Calvin Hartwell and a jury composed of W. A. Borthick, P. A. C. Moore, W. P. Starkey, J. H. Redman, W. S. Carmichael and J. W. Fairchild, the inquest into the death of Ralph W. Palmanteer, of 857 Ellis street, San Francisco, was conducted Monday at 3 p. m. After viewing the body and noting the injuries the jury heard the evidence as elicited by the coroner in examination.

C. O. Pulliam of the Pulliam Undertaking company, brother-in-law of the deceased, stated that Mr. Palmanteer was 31 years of age, married and an auto salesman.

Mr. Morgan, who was the man who came to the rescue of the injured party, and took them to the Tropico Mission hospital, told how he found the party by the roadside on the Friday morning on which the accident took place. He was coming out from the city and reached the "S" bend on San Fernando road somewhere about 1:30 a. m. There he found the auto lying on its side and the injured people sitting by the roadside. The dead man was lying with his head on the road and his feet still in the auto. Mr. Morgan, who is an experienced chauffeur, explained that no matter at what speed an auto might be going the "S" turn was always dangerous. It was specially so to those who did not know of its existence and even if going at only 15 miles an hour the car was likely to be overturned. He himself had frequently taken the "S" turn at high speeds but knowing it had no difficulty in negotiating it. He described the two journeys he made to the hospital with the dead man and the injured.

Herma Lawrence, who was in the auto at the time of the accident and bore evidence of the injuries she had received, told that the auto was going at a slow pace as Mr. Lawrence was a very careful driver and that the accident happened before anyone could observe what had happened. Other testimony to similar effect was given by Hugh Driskell, a young relative of the Lawrences, who was also in the auto. Mrs. Laura Driskell also testified that the accident took place before anyone could note conditions. She said that the auto appeared to have struck the right hand curb on the first turn of the "S" and then to have been thrown on its side. The windshield was bent over and broken into pieces by the impact.

Further evidence showed that the deceased had had the ribs on the left side broken and crushed into his heart. He was probably killed instantaneously.

After deliberation the jury brought in a verdict to the effect that the deceased met his death by having his chest crushed in when thrown out of the auto and that the death was purely accidental.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Pulliam and Mrs. Ralph Palmanteer wish to thank their many friends here in Glendale for their kind sympathy and words of cheer expressed in our recent bereavement in the death of Husband and Brother, Ralph W. Palmanteer, also for the many beautiful floral offerings and sympathy.

TROPICO

After a delightful visit of several days as the guests of Mrs. Frank I. Marsh, of 124 N. Central avenue, Mrs. J. S. Rose and daughter, Miss Myrtle Rose, have returned to their home at Buena Park.

In giving a list of the various business men and citizens who so generously contributed to the success of the cafeteria dinner given by the Cerritos school Parent-Teacher association Friday evening, the name of L. J. Bowers, of the National Ice company, was omitted. Mr. Bowers donated all of the ice for the dinner and in various ways aided the good cause.

Work is progressing rapidly on the residence of Mrs. Lou Gregory, which is being erected on West Tenth street.

Miss Blanche Shea, one of Tropico's most popular young ladies, has accepted a position with the Tropico Mercantile company.

Following a seven months' visit to her daughter, Mrs. Emery Gates, at Point Richmond, Mrs. Elizabeth Kasseall has returned to Tropico and will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock of West Park avenue.

Brave little six-year-old Marguerite Keeley, who sustained a broken wrist Saturday morning, is as patient and happy as she can be, and forgets all about her injury until she glances at the splints and bandages. Little Marguerite, who is just what her name implies, was among the happy pleasure seeking youngsters whom the Elks of Glendale entertained at the Palace Grand theater Saturday morning. The little girl, making a misstep, fell and sustained a fracture of the left wrist. Mrs. Herman Goodrich, who was chaperoning Marguerite, with her two children, Elizabeth and Robert, brought the little girl to Dr. Boyer's office, where the injured member was attended.

The second of a series of afternoon teas will be given at the home of Mrs. Clyde R. Carmack, 715 North Central avenue, Wednesday, March 1 at 2:30 o'clock. The teas are for the benefit of the Tropico Parent-Teacher association and prove delightful social as well as financial affairs. Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore, president of the association, announces that Mrs. Carmack, who is a most gracious hostess, is arranging a very interesting program for tomorrow afternoon and desires that a large number of guests accept of the hospitality which will be provided by Mrs. Carmack.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

The beautiful foothill home of L. L. Elliott, now residing at 1324 Arden avenue, is rapidly being completed and will be occupied by the Elliotts in the near future.

E. L. White, who conducts the Glendale Sanitary Dairy on Kenneth road, and who recently moved to the place from West Fifth street, Glendale, is making many improvements, in the dairy as well as the residence property. Plans are under way whereby a new milk house and cow barns will soon be completed.

CONTINUE TO EXTEND BUSINESS

The Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking company, located at corner of Acacia and Brand Blvd., Tropico, have now completed their Burbank branch and are equipped to respond promptly to emergency calls anywhere in the entire Valley. Their auto service includes a high power ambulance, built to their order, and which they have equipped with Johnson's First Aid to the Injured, hot and cold thermos bottles, sanitary drinking cups and all essentials; a touring car and casket auto.

The active members of this firm are L. G. Scovern, who came from Jefferson City, Mo., and R. E. Frey, who was born at Washington, D. C., and who was also a resident of Jefferson City, Mo., for many years before coming to California.

A RARE BIVALVE

The guest glanced up and down the bill of fare with enthusiasm.

"Oh, well," he decided finally, "you may bring me a dozen fried oysters."

The colored waiter became all apologies.

"Ah's very sorry, sah, but we's out ob all shellfish 'ceptin' aigs."

THE PHILIPPINES

Philippine Independence, by Harold Venske of Glendale High School

These political advantages should carry great weight in the decision of this Philippine question. There are other political advantages, but they are blended in with our other interests. For instance, late developments show conslusively that the political battles of the twentieth century will be for commercial supremacy. So let us now turn to our commercial interests, which like our political interests, demand retention of our islands.

By keeping the Philippines we will permanently acquire a large and valuable territory. A country with an area equal to the combined areas of the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maryland and New York. A country abounding in natural resources. As yet these vast resources have not been developed fully, especially in agriculture. However, the soil is very fertle and holds forth great possibilities. It has been computed that the value of tropical products, such as cocoa, coffee, fruits, rubber, sugar, spices, silk, etc., imported to the United States during the year ending June, 1913, amounted to $751,401,991. These products were furnished chiefly by Japan, South America Cuba, India and Egypt. The Insular Bureau of Agriculture, after careful figures, says the Philippines can produce several times that much. Now, if we keep the Philippines we could not only save money on our products, but could also be more independent of other nations, for we could say: "Japan, we don't need your silks, we are producing them in our own country." "India, keep your rubber, we can buy it cheaper from ourselves." Such a position, which I think we by all means desire, can be realized through retention of the islands. Thus, we see the Philippines are of great value from the standpoint of importation of products. Perhaps an even greater value lies in their natural position as a distributing center for our exports. Here again the important position of the islands manifests itself, for they are located in the center of the Oriental market. And the position is one of the most essential things in securing a large part of the Oriental trade. American exports need larger foreign markets. Manufacturing and natural production have increased faster than our population or consumption, and in order to secure the markets, we must compete with Europe. "To do this," Diplomat Foster says, "we must secure a base for commercial operation; the assertion of American power in a vital place is necessary." The Philippine islands is the vital place; there's no question about that. United States merchants can establish a commercial base there, and then can say to those far eastern countries, "We're here, Johnny on the spot; we mean business and can deliver the goods!" In this way we can successfully and to our own advantage compete with Europe.

The enormous value of these commercial advantages cannot be comprehended; we cannot evaluate them in dollars and cents. Such interests alone are sufficient to overthrow the Independence idea.

The Islands have another benefit in store for us, from a military and naval standpoint. A few pessimists say the Islands are a burden because we have to keep a detachment of the army and navy there to protect the Islands. They say this is a needless expense. Such pessimists look only at one side, the debit side. Let us take a glance at the credit side. If one knows anything about international affairs, he realizes that we absolutely need military force in the west and that the Philippine Islands are an exceptionally good place for it. Frederick Chamberlin, in his book on the Philippine problem shows that upon two occasions we have put men into China very promptly because we had them in Manilla. Time was very precious, and our immediate appearance in China meant a great deal. At what value shall we place that? In times of war the Islands are of a value inestimable. It is a seat of unusual strategic importance, because it has strength and resources. It not only gives us a base for supplies, but also an efficient transport service. One cannot deny that it has cost something to keep a defensive force in the Philippines, but we have been more than amply repaid. Through our position there we have been able to maintain the "open door" in China (an accomplishment of great value to the whole world). Then again it has furnished an excellent training post for our soldiers; it gives us the advantage in knowing how to handle troops in tropical zones (the knowledge of this is considered of great value by military officials). These benefits and other technical ones which are understood by military and naval officers, greatly overbalance the small amount we are out for keeping troops there.

THE NEXT STEP

Do not be too anxious to see all the way ahead of you. It may not be best for you. The man who carries a lantern on a dark night can see perfectly to take the next step. He can take only one at a time, and when he takes that step the light moves forward for the next one.

EDUCATION IN WALL STREET

Wall street bankers and brokers have arranged for the establishment of a branch of the New York university in a building provided by "the street" and within easy reach of it. It is intended to provide tuition in every branch of commercial work for the benefit of the employes of brokerage firms.

The employers pay the tuition and are responsible for all of the expenses of the institution, which has now nearly a thousand students enrolled. Most of the classes are planned so as not to conflict with the work of the students. While still in its experimental stage, it is believed that this provision will make it possible for hundreds of men to qualify themselves for higher positions. The added efficiency, gained from their study, will recompense their employers for the expense involved.

TUSKEGEE SINGERS

The Tuskegee Singers, who so delighted Glendale people at the Presbyterian church last week, will appear at the Congregational church, Third and Central, this evening at 8:00 o'clock. There will be an almost complete change of program. These singers never fail to please. Mr. Wood as a reader is simply great. These men, though colored, are highly educated, carefully trained and in every way are perfect gentlemen.
